He leaves his widow and the following children: Mrs. W. E. Donnelly, St. Louis; Mrs. S. J. Lovitt, San Antonio, Tex., James Myers, an M., K. & T. brakeman in Sedalia; Frank Myers, employed by the Texas Pacific railway in Texas, and George Myers, re siding in a western state.

He also leaves a sister, Mrs. Thos. McCannan, of Jersey City, N. J.

Mr. Myers was taken ill on January 29, last. Two months ago he went to the company's St. Louis hospital, where he remained until death.

He was one of the best known en gineers on the road, and for many years ran between Sedalia and St Louis on the fast mail and other trains of that class.

The remains, accompanied by the widow and Mrs. Donneily, arrived nere at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon and were taken to McLaughlin's undertaking establishment, and thence to the family residence, 421 West Fifth street.

Mr. Myers was a member of the Roman Catholic church and held membership in the B. of L. E.

Mrs. Lovitt for several weeks past had been with her father, but was in San Antonio at the time of the death. She will attend the funeral.

The funeral services will be held at Sacred Heart church at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning, with high mass by the assistant pastor, the Rev. Fr. Christian Daniel.

Thieves Will Work Thirty Days Each on the County Road.

F. R. Davis and H. C. Nelson, strangers in Sedalia, were arrested by Chief of Police W. H. Boullt this morning, charged with stealing sevtny-five pounds of brass from the Missouri Pacific shops.

Both were arraigned before Police Judge H. M. Gresham, who sentenced each to thirty days hard work on the county roads.

Nelson was arrested first and im plicated Davis. Nelson, in the cus tody of Chief Boullt, started to locate Davis. They caught a glimpse of him on the railroad tracks, near Mill avenue, and Nelson requested Chief Boullt to run and catch his man while he (Nelson) waited there un-

UPON THE OCCASION OF REV. FR. KIPPING CELEBRATING HIS FIRST MASS.

CEREMONIES AT SACRED HEART EDIFICE

In White - Presentation of a Wreath-Sermon By Rev. Father Schmidt.

In the presence of hundreds of worshipers, the Rev. Fr. Linus Kipping, who was ordained to the priesthood at Cincinnati, O., last Wednesday, celebrated his first holy mass at Sacred Heart Catholic church, on West Third street, at 10:30 o'clock Sunday

The ceremonies were among the most impressive ever conducted at that edifice. Every pew in the church was filled to its capacity, while the entire center aisle, likewise the rear vestibule, was filled with spectators. Preceded by fifty school girls, attired in white, the Rev. Fr. Kipping marched from the parochial residence to the front entrance of the church, where Miss Mary Dickman presented him with a white wreath, carried by two little flower girls, Catherine

Cadle and Anna Smasal. After a brief acceptance speech, re viewing the solemnity of the occasion, the new divine proceeded to the altar, where he began the celebration of his first mass, after ten years' arduous study preparing himself for the

DR. BUSHNELL HERE SUNDAY

He Is One of the Officers of the State Anti-Saloon League.

Sunday morning a splendid audience listened to a strong and interesting sermon by Dr. Albert Bushnell, First Baptist church.

Dr. Bushneli is a clear thinker and a forceful speaker. In his sermon he showed how the league is not a political organization, but a body back of which are the churches.

The greatest enemy the church of Christ has is the saloon. They are two great opposites and are pitched against each other. The church, to build up God's kingdom and so do its mighty and much needed work, must not only look to the regeneral tion of the individual man, but to his environment, and wherein abnormal change it, and thus help lift him up.

Great progress is being made along this line, an encouraging progress, doing business. Only 350 have been c'osed. But victory is certain, right-

> Fear of Premature Burial. The fear of premature burial, which prompted the late Lord Burton to direct by his will that his heart should be removed from his body, has caused many well-known men and women to order a surgical operation to be performed upon their bodies. Harriet Martineau left her doctor £10 to amputate her head, and Lady Burton directed that her heart should be pierced with a needle. The late Edmund Yates left instructions that his jugular vein should be severed, with a provision that a fee of 20 guineas should be paid for the purpose. Literary persons appear to have been particularly afraid of premature burial. Bishop Berkeley, Lord Lytton, Hans Andersen and Wilkie Collins all took measures to protect themselves from it.

The Fear of Thirteen.

The fearful grip which this number 13 supersitition continues to have upon the hearts of men and women in all walks of life is incomprehensible, says O. S. Marden, in Success Magazine Yet every intelligent person knows that nothing in this world can possibly take place without a cause, and that the cause must be sufficient to produce an effect. The most ignorant person, it would seem, should know that the arbitrary number, 13, has no more power to produce any effect, to cause any calamity, than a drop of ink. The fact that the ink or paint, instead of being in the shape of a round drop, is put into the form of the numeral 13 does not add any force or power to it A drop of ink or paint on the door of a hotel room would have just as much power to produce harm as it would if formed into the figure 13.

Good Roads. Another need emphasized by the people everywhere is good roads They want them faster than they are building them. Many favor some form of aid by the federal government Some favor the direct building of long highways under the government's au thority to construct postreads, others want help given to local governments on condition that local governments pay much of the cost and then keep them in order. Public opinion in gen eral favors the national government going at least so far as to have a body of road-building engineers who shall give advice to any community that asks it-show just what sort of reads to build-and who shall work out large plans for long roads and thus cause adjacent localities to work together. Again, the government can

ALWAYS THE LATEST STYLE.

Costumes Worn by Mrs. Longworth Are the Admiration of Society at the Capitol.

Mrs. Nicholas Longworth still is regarded as the best gowned woman in Washington. She has worn such an array of directoire and empire robes since the season began that it seems she spent a big part of the summer talking with dressmakers. Many of her robes show little details which are new to America. She has a gold brocade directoire which is without the least vestige of trimming save a fold of gold tissue across the low-cut neck and a similar fold edging the long yellow sleeves. The gown is exceedingly straight and narrow. Around the waist is a heavy golden cord, umes to match, so with this gown her slippers and hosiery are golden. She wears her hair dressed low on her neck, without puffs of any sort, but dinner recently a gown of peacock blue a frilling of cream lace, and then the gown descended to the knee as narrow and tight as a bolster case. The train was almost a ribbon, but the slender outlines of the former president's daughter made this severe mode a suc-

Tafts Have Beautiful Curios. Those who delight in curios should get in the good graces of the new president and obtain permission to examine his Philippine rugs and tapestries at leisure. Over the wide, hospitable hearth in the state dining-room of the White House, where during the Roosevelt administration the famous Fifteenth century tapestry of the Arcadian peasants used to claim attention, Mrs. Taft has placed an exquisite sylvan scene done by Filipino weavers. The other tapestry was a personal gift of Charles F. McKim to Mrs. Roosevelt after the White House renoation, and it went to Oyster Bay with her other treasures. Many fine rugs collected in various oriental countries now adorn the White House floors and wan's. Some of the Filipino rugs of woven grass with flowers, birds and lands capes surpass the best efforts of the French and Flemish in silks and worstet's. Mrs. Taft also has one of the most complete and beautiful collections of pima cloth table linen. Mrs. Roosevelt was partial to Porto Rican napery, and she laid in a large stock. INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE OF METEROLOGISTS IS BE-ING HELD IN LONDON.

UNITED STATES HAS A REPRESENTATIVE

Professor Willis L. Moore, Chief of Our Government Bureau, Is In Attendance-Will Prevent Sea Disasters.

London, June 21.—An international weather bureau, which will use the wireless telegraph to flash around the world warnings of approaching storms and disturbances of the elements projected by the distinguished weath er men of all countries gathered London today at the initial session o the International Conference of Me terologists.

According to the plans for this world-wide weather forecasting move ment, all vessels of all nations will be equipped with uniform storm signals It is believed that this would go far toward preventing disasters at sea.

The United States is represented a he conference opened today by Pro fessor Willis L. Moore, chief of the United States weather bureau. It is stated that America will take a prominent part in the projected interna tional bureau.

A concerted movement will be inaugurated to induce the principal governments to adopt a uniform system of wireless telegraphy marine weather reports, and to reach an agreement so that all nations shall display a uniform marine storm signal.

If such an international agreement can be effected, it is believed that it will be a great factor in saving life and property on sea and land, and at the same time be highly important in the making of weather predictions.

NEW ARRIVALS IN SUITINGS-

Sweden Probably to Be First Country In the World to Electrify All Railroads.

Sweden will probably be the first country in the world to abolish steam locomotives on all its railroads. For Sweden has no coal of its own and Sweden began in 1906 to experiment with electric traction on its railroads. Electric motors were tried first on a small stretch of road, and the results were so satisfactory that it has been decided to electrify all the lines. The government has bought several large water falls, which will furnish the power; five central hydro-electric stations are to be established for the operation of a first section of about 2,000 kilometers, and secondary stations, situated about twenty miles apart, will send the motive power in two directions in order that any point on the system may receive power from two different stations. These generating stations will also supply motive power direct to factories, the motors of which are now run by engines burning petro-

.The electric motors are to run at 60 kilometers an hour for express træins and 45 kilometers for way trains, which is a little more rapid than the speed at which the trains run to-day.

The Swedish engineers calculate that the electrification of these 2,000 kilometers of railway will by 1920 effect a saving of about $360,000 a year in the operation of the reads.

Platte City, Mo., June 21.-Nursing what he alleges was a wrong done him by a former employer, a man who said his name was George Johnson, in jail here, confessed that he shot and killed J. W. Moore on the latter's farm, six miles east of here, Sunday morning at 6 c'clock.

Moore's body was found in the barnyard with a bullet hole ulrough his heart by his son-in-law, Estill

Johnson was arrested as he was driving through this city. After his arrest he confessed to County Attorney Guy B. Park.

Johnson said he worked for Moore in 1897 and that following his loss of the situation, he asserts Moore circulated the story that he (Johnson) war an ex-convict.

Johnson declares that whenever he as a result the latter would lose his were opened today by Colonel Oates,

Men of Low Birth.

Many of our greatest men were the sons of obscure parents. Thomas Moore was the son of a grocer, Rembrandt of a miller, Euripides of a fruiterer, Virgil of a baker, Horace of a freed slave, Anayot of a currier, Voiture of a tax-gatherer, Lamonthe of a hatter, Sixtus the Fifth of a swineherd, Fletcher of a chandler, Massillon of a turner, Tamerlane of a shepherd, Rollin of a herdsman, Rousseau of a watchmaker, Moliere of an upholsterer, Ben Johnson of a mason, Shakespeare of a butcher, Sir Thomas Lawrence of a custom-house officer, Collins of a hatter, Gray of a notary, of a barber, Keats of a liveryman.-Scrap Book.

Ambergris and Amber.

There is some popular confusion of ambergris with amber; in fact, however, there is no relation between them. But for a long time the nature of ambergris was hidden in mystery. In ancient days it was commonly believed that it flowed up from the bottom of the sea. Sinbad the Sailor tells of a spring of ambergris that he found; but it was in a crude state. The fish swallowed it, and then disgorged it in congealed form, and in this condition it floated on the surface of the sea. This story harmonizes perfectly with the old Arabian belief.

Step to Prevent Forest Fires. Maine has a new set of game laws PATTY: which authorize the governor to suspend all hunting privileges during droughts and times of special danger from forest fires. Commenting on them, the Boston peraid says: "This precautionary power is wise. The chief fire warden of New York reports that one-third of the forest fires in that state last year were definitely due to hunters' carelessness. Many others, recorded as from unknown causes, may have had similar origin. Individual sport may well be checked, or suspended in order to assure public safety."

Waiting for Himself.

Prof. Henry Beers of Yale is a typical savant of the most old-fashioned sort, and his oddities have given rise to a mythology of absent-mindedness. Beattie of a farmer, Edward Sugden On leaving his lecture room one day he pinned a notice on the door to the effect that he would be back at four o'clock. Returning some time earlier than he had expected, he was attracted by the notice. He read it thoughtfully, loked at his watch, and, seeing that the professor would not be in for fully ten minutes yet, sighed and turned away to kill the time till he himself would return.-Bohemian.

CATHOLIC SCHOOL NEXT DOOR WAS DAMAGED BY THE EXPLOSION.

THERE WAS TROUBLE IN CONGREGATIO

An Attempt to Destroy Building, but One Fuse Fails to Burn, While Second Causes Noise Heard Mile Away.

Newark, N. J., June 21 .- Two crudey fashioned bombs were used shortly after 2 o'clock Sunday morning in an attempt to blow up the Italian Roman Catholic church and school of the parish of St. Rocco here. Each consisted of a tomato can, in which dynamite had been placed, with a fuse attached.

They were placed on the sidewalk in front of and close to each building. The fuse of the one intended to destroy the church went out, but the other burned until the explosive was set off.

The noise and force of the explosion was terrific. Persons a mile away heard the sound and every houe within ten blocks was shaken and the occupants awakened and alarmed.

Every window in the school build ing, which is four stories high and of frame, was broken. Doors and other portions of the frame work were damaged and a hole about five feet square was torn in the front of the building.

WOMEN OPPOSE TRICK TO RAISE TARIFF

Housewives and Mothers to Protest to Conference Committee-Compromise Tariff Tax Is Now Threatened.

Special to the Democrat-Sentinel. New York, June 21.- Urging all mothers and housewives to rise to resent the threatened attempt of congress in its conference committee to raise the price of cotton stockings by an increased tariff tax, hundreds of thousands of warning letters were sent to the women of every section of the land from this city today.

That the stocking trust has almost succeeded in its bold bid for power to make the price for these every day necessities to all Americans through an increased tariff has just; peen reported from Washington to the leaders of this widespread wo men's movement here.

Unless the women who must keep their families supplied with stock ings write, telephone or wire at once to their representatives on the conference committee at Washington, It seems assured that the quiet compromise will be effected and that the stocking trust will be empowered to raise the prices, which already bid fair to pinch the poor.

Promising thousands of such letters of protest from every community of the country, the wives of many prominent men here, who have interested themselves in the movement, are today bravely setting to work to defeat in the interest of the millions of poorer consumers this trust trick.

Welfare workers and leading mempers of charitable and philanthropic organizations of this city are also interesting themselves in this cause of the poor of the land.

To Senator Aldrich, Burrows and Hale, as well as Congressmen Payne, McCall and Hill, the women of every section of the country are being urg ed to protest before night falls.

If these men receive sufficient evidence that all American families are in earnest in their fight against trust control of cotton stockngs, it is declared, there may yet be some hope of making the voice of the people overcome the selfish demands of this favored few manufacturers.

"The purpose of a railroad, as I see it," said Mr. Ross, who for the last two years has been traffic manager of the system of which he is now vicepresident, "is to sell transportation to the people. It is not intended to make a position for you or for me or for anybody else. It is a commercial enterprise with something to sell, and it should act accordingly. It has been my constant endeavor to keep in touch with the people—the patrons of the railroads. If more officials would adopt the plan I think we should have better railroad laws and fewer of "It is the railroad officials who sit behind closed doors and refuse to see any one who have done much toward getting the roads into bad repute. The man whose card is sent back to him with the words 'Nothing doing,' says to himself: 'Crookedness somewhere, all right, or why wouldn't they talk to me?' If this man were made to understand that the railroads are really trying to do the right thing, all would be different.

"I have always instructed all emto refuse to hear complaints and to! treat complainants kindly. The result is that I have had little trouble.

"Perhaps my success in using this policy comes from my having been in close touch with the people all my life. I was born in Bloomington, Ill. When I was about 20 years old I got a job as office boy on the Wabash road. I always tried to perform my duties in that position as if it were the most important position the road could offer me. The consequence was that I soon became an operator, then a chief clerk, then a cashier.

"The next step upward was clerk in the trainmaster's office. Then I became general agent for the Indiana, Illinois & Iowa, and on June 1, 1904, division freight and passenger agent. Before the year was out I was appointed general passenger agent for the Clover Leaf system, and a year later general freight agent. After building this bridge many years ago, the entled in a little Ontario town, whose lower streets were washed by the waters of this stream spanned by the bridge in question. For 20 years or more he had watched from the shelter of his own vine the long freight trains and the flying passenger trains crossing the bridge. For 20 years the midnight express woke him, and when she rushed past his cottage he knew that the bridge was there, and that the train had crossed in safety.

But when the new engineer came in with a gang of workmen to replace the old bridge with a modern twin-trapped steel structure, the old man was un able to understand why they should seek to destroy his "masterpiece." At first he refused to believe it. He recalled that the company had hard work raising the money to build this bridge 20 years ago. He pointed out to the engineer that the bridge was as good as new, the masonry and the material employed grew stronger and firmer, hardened and toughened by the touch of time.

"Ah, yes," said the young engineer, "It is indeed a splendid piece of work, and if you could have foreseen the vast volume of traffic that would have traveled this way, if you could have anticipated the modern mogul with its 50 loads of 60.000-pound-cars, if you

RAISES SALODN LICENSE

The County Court of Buchanan County Takes Action.

Jefferson City, Mo., June 21.-Gov. Hadley has received a letter from the county court of Buchanan county informing him the increase of $100, as suggested by him, would be made in the annual license levied against the dramshops in that county for state

This action brings under the increase, which is still $100 below the amount which could be assessed under the law, the saloons of St. Louis, Kansas City and St. Joseph, and makes the license which is to ba paid by them $300 for state purposes annually.

There are 3,200 saloons there, in cluding the whole of Jackson and rate celebration in commemoration of Buchanan counties.

Pennsylvania Railroad Successful In Its Experiments.

The Pennsylvania's achievements in the way of operating locomotives without smoke have attracted the attention of the National Civic federation, and this organization has invited a discussion of the road's methods from A. W. Gibbs, the general superintendent of motive power of the road.

Mr. Gibbs' reply forms a very important contribution to the whole subject of smoke suppression in one of MAURICE: Its most difficult fields—that, namely, from Gold Medal Flour.

Rosaline. of the locomotive engine. A railroad knows that smoke is a public nuisance, but it has a very important financial reason in addition for striving after smoke suppression, since from 8 to 11 per cent. of its total operating cost is for fuel, and much of the fuel is wasted by imperfect combustion. Bituminous coal, the hardest to burn without smoke, is, however, a necessity in the engines, of most roads. The solution of the problem is found in methods of stok-ing and in mechanical appliances. Mr. Gibbs says that his road's experiments show that bituminous coal can be burned practically without smoke; that some appliances are helpful, but that even with the best of them the personal factor con not be ignored; and that, therefore, in the last analysis the solution of the problem lies in teaching the firemen how to us for market reports.
